

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

In an automated common use self-service kiosk, an automated error detection and recovery system automatically reports errors to an agent and prints a recovery coupon to be delivered to a user and presented to an agent. The recovery coupon contains a pointer to error condition data to allow the agent to quickly determine the cause of the error and possible corrections.